

Role of the School Media Center

Each school site in District 112 has a media center providing an array of resources and services for students and staff. Each is staffed by a media specialist, media paraprofessional, and at least 1 technology associate. This team helps support the academic and technology endeavors of each building.

Media specialists and technology associates contribute to the ongoing planning for the effective use by both teachers and students of educational technology.

During the 2005-2006 academic year media specialists revived the media and technology curriculum at the elementary level. The secondary level is currently undergoing an entire program review for which there will certainly be implications to both media and technology curriculums. District 112 has adopted the National Educational Technology Standards (NETS) and continues to embed those standards within our various curriculum strands.
